

Health, Safety and Environment Policy

Wattyl strives to develop a culture that supports health and safety by encouraging behaviours and implementing processes that ensure the health and safety of all employees, contractors, customers and the communities associated with our operations.

Wattyl is committed to providing a safe and injury-free workplace. Our fundamental belief is that all injuries can be prevented. All accidents, near misses and accidents must be reported immediately.

We will continually improve the safety of the workplace by thoroughly analysing risks, reducing hazards and establishing systems and work practices that incorporate safety as the most fundamental element of design.

We will sell only those products that can be produced, transported, stored, used and disposed of safely and will provide appropriate information on the safe use and disposal of our products to our customers and consumers.

Wattyl is committed to reducing the impacts of our processes and products on the environment. To achieve this we will:

- Meet, if not exceed, the requirements of all relevant environmental legislation.
- Continually improve our operational environmental performance by setting and reviewing annual targets.
- Educate and encourage our employees to be environmentally conscious.
- Proactively manage waste and divert recyclables from waste streams.
- Reduce emissions associated with our activities.
- Demonstrate environmental leadership by encouraging our suppliers to improve their environmental performance

JOHN NOLAN
Managing Director